SUMMARY

Meticulous, diligent and self motivated Electronic and Telecommunication Engineering student having skills in Python, Excel, SQL, Basic of Graphic Designing, MS Office. Motivated and adaptable individual with strong in communication, teamwork, problem-solving and project management. Highly passionate for learning new technologies with ability to quickly grasp the same looking for opportunity in IT Sector.

PROJECT

Diagnostic System for Breast Cancer Classification

Feb-2024-Mar-2025

- The project introduces AI powered Diagnostic System for Breast Cancer Classification, utilizing Convolutional Neural Networks to enhance accuracy and efficiency.
- The system is trained on a Kaggle dataset containing medical images, where preprocessing techniques such as resizing, normalization, and augmentation are applied to improve model performance.
- The CNN model is developed and trained using Jupyter Notebook and is later integrated with a Tkinter-based Graphical User Interface to provide a user-friendly platform for breast cancer diagnosis.
- Automated Classification: Users can upload medical images, and the system will automatically classify them, providing a potential solution for early detection and diagnosis of breast cancer.

Blinkit Grocery Sales Analysis

- Designed and implemented an interactive sales dashboard, enhancing data visualization for strategic planning and operational efficiency.
 - Developed a dynamic analytical tool, providing granular insights into sales trends to optimize inventory and marketing.
 - Created a robust reporting system with multi-dimensional filtering, empowering data-driven decision-making and performance optimization.
